MacArthur Is Reported Gravely Ill

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — General of the Army Douglas MacArthur was reported "reacting to his surroundings and progressing as well as can be expected" today after emergency surgery.

It was disclosed in a hospital statement at 8:35 a.m. that "a tracheotomy was performed late Monday night "to assist his breathing."

There was no further word on his condition.

MacArthur, who is 84, received 18 pints of blood in transfusions in connection with internal bleeding which required the emergency operation.

But doctors reported shortly afterward that he was holding up well.

The six-hour 2nd graft 139.

The six-hour emergency operation was performed Monday at a hospital where the general had been making a satisfactory recovery from a March 6 gall bladder operation. His progress had been so good that early discharge was contemplated.

At 6 a.m. Monday, the hospital reported, severe upper gastro-intestinal hemorrhaging was detected and four hours later surgery was begun.

U.S. Envoy to Japan Stabbed

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer was reported recovering in a Tokyo hospital tonight from a stab wound in the right thigh inflicted by a Japanese youth who police said was mentally deranged.

Police said the assailant, Norikazu Shiotani, 19, was near-sighted and told them he wanted to protest because the United States and Japanese governments did not do enough for people with poor sight.

The police said Shiotani had tried unsuccessfully earlier this year to set fire to a U.S. Embassy building to advance his crusade.

The police said there apparently was no political motive for the assault. President Kennedy's appointment in 1961 of the popular, Japanese-speaking ambassador was widely hailed in Japan because of Reischauer's scholarly knowledge of Asia.

It was the first assault on an American ambassador to Japan in more than a century of diplomatic relations.

The thin, sullen-faced youth climbed the embassy wall and plunged a six-inch blade into the 53-year-old ambassador as he came out of the embassy chancery on his way to lunch.

The ambassador was given blood transfusions to compensate for heavy loss of blood. After the wound was closed X-rays were taken to determine whether the missing tip of the blade was lodged in the leg. The photographs did not show it.

Quick thinking and swift action by John Ferchak, 40, an official in the embassy's commercial section, may have saved Reischauer's life.

Ferchak, from Jersey City, N.J., heard Reischauer say, "Who is that man?" and then saw that he carried a knife. Grabbing Shiotani from the back, Ferchak pushed him to the floor, forced the knife from his hand, then called for help.

Reischauer said, "I am bleeding, call a doctor." Ferchak helped him to a seat. Whipping off his tie, Ferchak used it as a tourniquet to stop the flow of blood, then got a scarf from one of the secretaries to make another tourniquet.

The ambassador, still conscious, was rushed to the hospital operating table. Three hours later his Japanese-born wife, Haru, issued a statement saying that her husband was "making a good recovery" and was grateful for the "warm and spontaneous sympathy" from everyone.

Success for a One-Dream Man Is Like Winding Up in Jail, Says Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plato:

Success is the greatest danger to a man with only one dream. The one-dream man, once he gains his goal, is imprisoned by his own achievement. Winning disillusion him. He is like Alexander the Great who, according to legend, drank himself to death because there didn't seem much else left worth doing.

Victory is always a menace to the one-track mind. It is a particular peril to the military mind. Adolf Hitler, who did and said many wrong things, was right on one point. That was when he complained that victory made his generals timid.

This has been true of most generals in most armies throughout history. Once they win they hesitate ever again to put themselves into a position where they might lose.

But success can be a major foe in any line of endeavor—to the businessman who makes only one financial coup, the actor who has only one outstanding role, the writer who has one good book in his system and then sits barren before his empty-minded typewriter.

It is multiplicity of dream, not singleness of goal that preserves youth.

Age, of course, is a hard thing to define. There are all kinds of ways to measure age. There is one's calendar age, one's men-

Central Air and Heat at City Hall

The Hope Water & Light Plant is installing a new heating and air-conditioning system at the city hall. The new equipment is all electric, and is what is generally known as a "heat pump." It is essentially a refrigerating machine that pumps out of the building in the summer, and which can be reversed to pump heat into the building during the winter. The installation has a rated capacity of ten tons, and will handle the courtroom and all of the lower floor of the building.

The power companies have for several years been promoting the sale of this type of equipment, and with some success, particularly throughout the South. It's widest use has been in "all electric" homes. There are, however, a member of commercial installations in Arkansas, but this is the first of any kind in Hope. The Electric Department has four test meters installed on the apparatus in order to get complete operating data, and they will be able to give exact operating information to Hope Water & Light customers who are interested in going "all electric."

Foreman, Like Belli, Quits Ruby

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Percy Foreman, echoing Melvin M. Belli's remarks that Jack Ruby did not get a fair trial in Dallas, quit the Ruby defense team Monday and returned home to Houston.

The 61-year-old lawyer said he decided to withdraw from the Ruby case because he was not permitted by the Ruby family to handle the appeal of the conviction alone and in his own way.

"I am not accustomed to conferring with or justifying my course of action to other attorneys," Foreman said in a letter of resignation to Ruby. "I have always worked alone."

Ruby, who declared himself a pauper Monday on his 53rd birthday, was sentenced to death in the electric chair March 14 for the slaying Nov. 24 of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy. Belli, who headed Ruby's defense in a month-long trial, engineered a plea of temporary insanity for the Dallas strip joint operator.

Foreman said Ruby was "barbecued" at the Dallas trial. The Houston attorney took the case only last Thursday after the Ruby family fired Belli, of San Francisco.

2nd Missile Failure Is Reported

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The second stage of a two-stage Thor-Delta missile failed to ignite today, ruining the second flight test of an Asset research vehicle. The flight was designed to test techniques for maneuverable astronaut vehicles of the future.

The rocket knifed upwards at 7:15 a.m. (EST) and officials said the thor-delta performed well during the burning time of the first stage. A few minutes later, they announced that the second stage did not ignite.

The stubby-winged vehicle was to soar more than 37 miles then plunge through the atmosphere to a parachute landing in the Atlantic Ocean.

Tracking ships and planes were in the planned landing area south of Barbadoes Island, about 2,100 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy.

The launching was the second of six planned in the Air Force's Project Asset, which stands for aerothermodynamic elastic structural systems environmental tests.

The first asset payload survived a ballistic flight last September, but sank in the Atlantic when flotation gear failed.

Schools Hit by Loss of Industry

By BILL SIMMONS

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — The El Dorado school system is grappling with economic problems caused by the rejection of a school tax increase proposal. And the increase may have been turned down because of a costly reversal in the quest for industry.

The school board will close two elementary schools, eliminate 18 teaching positions, and cut travel and maintenance costs.

Why did the patrons of School District 1 reject by a vote of 2,828 to 697 a proposal last September to raise the school tax by four mills?

A spotturvey by The Associated Press showed that many El Dorado voters don't know—even in cases in which they voted against the increase.

Schools Supt. Garland Stubbfield, operating with the same 40-mill tax the district had in 1960, could not explain it.

Officials could not pinpoint the cause.

But they all indicated that the failure of the Chase - Grocord Rubber Co., secured by Union County's passage of more than $5 million in bonds, may have

Heckler Is Floored by Rejoinder

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Roger Craig, baseball's biggest loser for the last two years, was telling about a heckler.

"It was at a banquet this winter," the St. Louis right-hander said. "This guy got up and he was riding me pretty good. Heck, I'm not ashamed of the way I pitched and I couldn't stand this guy taking me apart. So I just got up and said:

"You know, I'm the only two-time 20-game loser who go two-time 20-game loser who got a raise both years."

"That quieted him down." Craig uses the story to illustrate how he kept his head while he was pitching for the New York Mets. In 1962 Craig had a 10-24 record. Then things got worse. Last season he was 5-22, tying a National League record by losing 18 games in a row and losing five 1-0 games.

He came to the Cardinals in a trade for outfielder George Altman.

"Sure I took it home with me," said Craig. "A lot of ball players exaggerate and they tell you nothing bothers them. I'm married, and if I couldn't discuss it with my wife, who could I discuss it with?"

"But there were good moments too," he said. "I'll never forget my girl—Sherri, she's 11 — jumping down and grabbing me and kissing me the night I broke my 18-game losing streak."

Assembly in Session on Registration

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Legislators convened today for a special session on voter registration, hopeful that they can conclude their business and go home this week.

Lawmakers arriving early predicted almost unanimously that the session will last only three or four days.

But there was no indication that a controversy over which county official is to be designated as registrar has been settled and debate on this point could tie up the session.

An Associated Press poll of early arriving legislators Monday indicated that the assessors have a plurality of support but there are enough votes committed to the sheriff-collectors and clerks to keep any bill from easy passage.

The poll indicated solid support for an annual registration system as opposed to a permanent system favored by Benton County Rep. Hardy Croxton and his Committee for Voter Registration.

Besides voter registration, the general assembly will consider 17 other items placed in the special session call by Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

These include a bill to make "sit-in" type interference at polling places a felony instead of a misdemeanor, an appropriation of $50,000 for a new hospital at Cummins Prison Farm and an appropriation of $195,000 for remodeling the House chamber.

The Legislative Council spent Monday discussing the 12 budget measures included in the call. All were approved. None is expected to be controversial. Most are bookkeeping transactions to enable agencies to better take advantage of federal funds.

There is a $44,500 appropriation to pay costs of the Health Department's Division of Tuberculosis Control. This agency now is financed with federal funds but Washington is quitting the field as a result of President Johnson's economy program.

A proposed bill to let the Little Rock School District take advantage of federal matching money to build a technical high school produced the only sparks.

He stripped his gear off Begetta and turned her loose. She didn't move from her tracks, just huddled there, head hanging, looking woebegone and friendless as Charlie felt.

He edged along the wall as breath - held and fluttery as though at any moment he figured to step on a cat, hoping the stable's back door had not been fastened. But, arrived before it in the grayling gloom, envisioning the uproar that would be loosed if he were discovered, try as he would he couldn't bring himself to touch it. There were horses in some of the pens off yonder but Fritch was the kind who slept with one eye open and a sawed-off at his elbow.

Shoulders hunched and hat pulled low he struck off obliquely across the vacant lots, aiming behind these marts of trade to come into the back streets given over to homes, hoping among such countrified parts to come into some empty house or barn.

There was a barn ahead. He swerved toward it, then stopped. He scrubbed the sweat from his eyes and peered again at the house and fence beyond. A white and green frame, newly painted by the look. He stepped gingerly into the barn. "Well!" a female voice said abruptly. "What are you doing here?"

Medders, jerked to his feet, peered apprehensively about. Neither door had been opened. Not a soul was in sight, but through a hole in the siding he could see gray sand and the green of weeds; by this he knew another morning had begun.

"Come on, now . . . I'm not going to hurt you," she coaxed. She smiled enticingly.

Medders loosed a shaky sigh.

He understood now what had gripped him outside when he'd spotted that house with its white picket fence - the old Winters place that her father had left before he'd shuffled off and Imogene, to feed herself, had gone to work in Jones' bank as private scribe and sweet-talking watchdog to the man's inner sanctum.

While they stared at each other through the sticky stillness Charlie reckoned he could hardly have gotten deeper into the fat had he camped on the doorstep of T. K. himself. With Jones, at least, he could have put up a scrap, but faced with the elegant Imogene Winters a guy was tied to the mast, left not even the solace of swearing.

"I rather imagined you were in there," she said. "The whole town knows Begetta. If you were hoping to hide—" "How'd I know the dang fool was out there? I expect," Charlie growled, "you're goin' to have to turn me in?"

"What would you suggest?" Medders' jaw fell open. Miss Winters smiled and, when his look turned suspicious, loosed a tinkle of silvery laughter. "I suppose you are feeling pretty sorry for yourself. You mustn't

Arkansas Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Warm, rainy weather is in store for Arkansas before cooler weather sets in again the end of the week.

Southerly winds pushed clouds into the state from the west Monday night and scattered showers are expected to prevail over most sections through Wednesday.

Now here in the state did low readings dip below 50 degrees today and maximum temperatures were expected to be in the 70s.

Low readings tonight are predicted in the 40s north to 60s south. Cooler air should move into the state by Thursday. High readings Monday were in the upper 60s and low 70s.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said rainfall should total about one inch in locally heavy showers today and Wednesday.

FORECASTS
ARKANSAS — Considerable cloudiness today through Wednesday. Occasional light rain or drizzle this morning. Scattered showers and thunderstorms this afternoon, tonight and Wednesday. Cooler Wednesday and in the north tonight. High today 65 to 75. Lows tonight near 40 north to 60 south.
EASTERN AND SOUTHERN MISSOURI—Partly cloudy and turning cooler today with the high in the 40s northeast to the 50s south. Chance of a few showers southwest. Partly cloudy to cloudy and cool tonight and Wednesday, with light rain beginning southwest late tonight and spreading over the area judge everyone in the light to T.K. You did make him look pretty silly, you know."

"You mean . . ." Charlie swallowed like he doubted his hearing.

"He is pretty worked up over you, I'll admit." She stood silent then, lips slightly parted, tip of pink tongue thoughtfully crossing the lower one. "Actually, you've no need to hide out."

"No need!" Charlie gasped. She said, "Perhaps I'd better get under cover," and stepped out of his sight. Before he could gather enough spit to swear, the smaller door opened and she came into the barn. Begetta rather gingerly stepping in after her. "Burks and those deputies were just to keep you hopping around until he has this business fully organized and rolling."

Charlie couldn't peg that. He stood there goggling. "The new venture," she said, "the company they've organized to exploit your find. I'd no idea there was so much to do . . . machinery to be bought and transported, drills, blasting powder — such a miscellany of equipment. We were all there working till almost one o'clock last night. I would never have guessed a mine required —"

"But there ain't no mine!" Medders cried, exasperated.

Her smile cut him off. "You can't keep a thing big as this off the street — T. K. said so himself. The whole town was in an uproar, especially after Father Eusebio told us those pieces of ore his Papagos brought in were chunks you'd thrown to scare your burros out of his corn." She said as though it were a pity: "T. K., of course had to give it to the papers. I suppose by now they've put the story on the wire."

"What story?"

She peered at him, astonished. "Why . . . about your uncovering the old Weeping Widow that's been lost all these years. Well, he had to tell them something."

at the council session Monday.

Some members wanted assurance that Little Rock would not get money that could be used in the state.

They were told that the money is in a $890,000 federal allocation, not yet appropriated, to finance vocational - technical schools during the fiscal year which ends next June 30.

The money must be used by then or lost, Education Commissioner Arch Ford said, and the state does not have matching money available while Little Rock has.

He said that if Little Rock is not permitted to use the money, it will revert to the federal government.

Enactment of a voter registration bill was necessitated by adoption of Amendment 24 to the U.S. Constitution. The amendment outlaws the poll tax as a voting requirement for federal elections.

Faubus asked the Legislative Council to study the matter and recommend a bill in hopes that this approach would avert controversy in an election year.

The council quickly drew up a bill for an annual registration system with provisions for registration by relatives of the voter and automatically registering all holders of current poll tax receipts.

But the council fell out when it turned to designating a registrar. The council voted to send out three bills, one naming the assessor, the second the sheriff-collector and the third the clerk.

Supporters of the assessors contend they should take the job as a convenience to voters because the registration period will coincide with the period for assessing personal property each year. Assessors, however, said they do not want the job.

Sheriff-collectors put in a bid for it. They now handle issuance of poll tax receipts.

Faubus said in advance of the session that he did not care which official becomes the registrar. He said he will sign any bill the legislature sends him.

He did give his endorsement to the Legislative Council bill.

Lee Zachery, director of the industry - hunting Greater El Dorado Committee, said he knew "that some people didn't like the idea."

"When Chase - Grocord went into default, it added six or seven mills to the taxes then," he said.

That was in the summer of 1963—just a few months prior to the school election.

Mayor Roy H. Gowdy believes the firm's failure and "something to do with it, but that's not the whole story."

"People were tired of taxes, period," he said. "They just plain didn't want to vote a new millage."

Zachery said that when the Chase-Grocord bonds were approved, voters also passed a bond issue for a new county hospital.

Several voters said they believed the addition of the Chase-Grocord bonds' taxes turned voters against a school tax increase, but only one of these voted against it.

The two chief surgeons were Lt. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton the Army's surgeon general, and Lt. Col Thomas J. Whelan Jr. They were the chief surgeons also in the March 6 operation in which the gall bladder, packed with gall stones, was removed.

"Considering the seriousness of the operative procedure, Gen. MacArthur continues to react satisfactorily," Heaton said late Monday night. "The vital signs, which include pulse and blood pressure, are holding up well."

Before the earlier operation there were fears that MacArthur, who holds the five-star rank of general of the Army, was suffering from cancer. His face was yellowed by jaundice and his tall frame was gaunt because of loss of weight.

Extensive exploration of the abdominal area showed no sign of the disease and it was reported that no further surgery was contemplated.

WE STICK TO OUR LASTS

There was a time when pharmacists often were called "Doc." Doubtless it was a complimentary gesture.

Even in this late day, the pharmacist frequently is asked to diagnose and prescribe by his customers.

But like the shoemaker, we pharmacists stick to our own lasts. We neither diagnose nor prescribe. These health team functions fall within the special province of physicians both by law and professional training.

As a member of the health team, we are an intermediary, serving both the doctor and the patient. Our job is to compound your prescriptions carefully and promptly.

Hammons - Bass Exchange Vows
The First Methodist Church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Helen Troy Hammons and Lloyd Ree Bass at 4 p.m. Saturday, March 21. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Foy Hammons and the late Mr. Hammons, and the bridegroom is the son of the late D. L. and Lloyd Alma Byars Bass of Bearden.

The Rev. Raymond Franks officiated at the single-ring ceremony before an altar decorated with greenery, burning tapers, and baskets of white gladioli. Mrs. B. C. Hyatt, organist, played a program of pre-nuptial music, and Paul O'Neal sang "The Lord's Prayer" while the couple knelt after their exchange of vows.

Given in marriage by her brother, Jimmie Dick Hammons of Huntsville, Ala., the bride wore a full-length gown of chantilly lace trimmed with organza and lace. It was fastened with a round neckline and long sleeves which ended in lily points over the hands. Her veil of illusion fell from a wedding band coronet of satin. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias.

Mrs. R. H. Herod, Jr. of Richardson, Tex., sister of the bride was her matron of honor and only attendant. She was attired in a ballerina-length frock of aqua daron polyester that had Watteau panels and a fitted bodice. She wore a matching hat and carried pink feathered carnations.

Dick Bass of Fordyce was the best man for his brother. Ushers were Ted Broderick, William R. Rounton, Johnny Anthony, and George Bass of El Dorado.

Johnny Anthony and William Rounton served as candle lighters.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Hammons wore a blue lace dress with matching accessories. Mrs. D. L. Bass of Bearden, the bridegroom's stepmother, wore navy blue with white accessories. Each had a corsage of white gardenias.

A reception followed at the Heritage House. Mrs. Talbot Feild, Jr. greeted the guests at the door and introduced them to the receiving line. Wedding cake and punch were served in the dining room, where the table was overlaid with a white linen cloth and centered with an epergne holding white stocks, pink carnations, and white candies.

Those serving were Mrs. Citi Stuart, Jr., Mrs. E. P. Young, Jr., Mrs. Charles VanNess of El Dorado, and Mrs. Joe Keesey. Assisting were Miss Mary Roy Moses, Mrs. Mitchell LaGrone, Mrs. Ken Daniels, Mrs. Lloyd Leverett, Mrs. William R. Rounton, Mrs. John B. Gardner, Jr., and Mrs. George Frazier. Mrs. Jimmy Dick Hammons of Huntsville, Ala., and Mrs. Jerry Guthrie of Arkadelphia had charge of the bride's book.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding and reception included Mrs. J. W. Spivey, Hamburg, aunt of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Welsh, Little Rock, uncle and aunt of the bride; Mrs. Harry Vaughan, Little Rock, cousin of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Roger H. Herod, Jr., Mike Don, and Vicki, Richardson, Tex., brother-in-law and sister of the bride and their family; Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Farrell, Little Rock; Mr. and Mrs. Oliver P. Bass, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. George Bass, Deana and Amy, all of El Dorado; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry L. Guthrie, Arkadelphia; Mrs. Frank Robins, III and Mrs. Robert Ott, Conway; Mrs. Bobbie J. James, New Jersey; the Rev. and Mrs. Richard Bass, Bearden; Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Ward, Jonesboro, La.; Mrs. Viora Frye Spooner, Dallas.

When the couple left for a wedding trip, the bride wore a three piece knit suit in pineapple shade with a black straw hat and other accessories of black patent. She pinned white gardenias at her shoulder.

Upon their return the newlyweds will be at home in Hope at 116 N. Louisiana. He is a salesman for the Hope Lumber Manufacturing Company, and she is a bookkeeper for Young Chevrolet Company.

Friday Music Club

Songs by Lillian Carrigan Rounton were featured in a special program on Arkansas Music at the Friday Music Club meeting on March 20 in the home of Mrs. Jewel V. Moore, Jr. Mrs. Talbot Feild, Jr. was the program leader and gave an interesting sketch of the musical career of Mrs. Rounton, who was the honored guest for the afternoon and who is an honorary member of the club.

A few of the songs composed by this local musician were sung, and Mrs. B. C. Hyatt played the piano accompaniment. The program included: "Clouds and Shadows" and "Summer Rain," Mrs. Thomas E. Hays, Jr.; "Cotton Field Dream" and "Gypsy Feet," Mrs. Haskell Jones; "Tonight" and "I Know That Love Cannot Die," Mrs. Clarence Geist; "By a Driftwood Fire," Mrs. Charles Batson; "Summer's Brought the Flowers" and "Blue Distance," Mrs. Douglas Drake; "Prayer," Mrs. Calvin Smith.

The meeting was opened by Mrs. Arch Wylie, President, and the Club Collect was repeated in unison. Plans were announced for a concert at Hope High School by Mrs. Robert Sard of Urbana, Ill., with a reception to follow at the Home Economics Cottage. Nominating committee chairman, Mrs. V. R. Herndon, Jr., presented the following slate of officers which was unanimously accepted:

President, Mrs. Thomas E. Hays, Jr.; first vice-president, Mrs. Sam Strong; second vice-president, Mrs. Clarence Geist; third vice-president, Mrs. Guy Downing; secretary, Mrs. M. B. Hatch; treasurer, Mrs. Charles Reynerson; parliamentarian, Mrs. Arch Wylie; librarian, Mrs.

B. C. Hyatt; historian, Mrs. Garrett Story; pianist, Mrs. B. C. Hyatt; auditor, Mrs. Roy Stephenson.

In keeping with the theme of Arkansas music, copies of the sheet music of "Arkansas" autographed by the composer, Eva Ware Barnett, were given to the ones attending the meeting. The Moore home was lovely with arrangements of spring flowers throughout. Mrs. Moore and her co-hostess, Mrs. Charles Reynerson, served a salad plate and coffee to 25 as they arrived. Besides Mrs. Ralph Royton, other guests were Mrs. T. S. McDavitt, Mrs. William Rounton and Ralph, Mrs. Charles Menz of Battle Creek, Mich., and Mrs. J. C. Carlton, another honorary member of the club.

DOROTHY DIX

JURORS HAVE PREJUDICES, BUT NOT THOSE YOU THINK
By Dr. Joyce Brothers
Some very interesting new research by scientists at New Jersey's Fairleigh Dickinson University has upset logic and common sense. A study was made to find out exactly what prejudices are likely to cloud the mind and judgment of Mr. Average Citizen when he's called for jury duty. The results of this study surprised me. They surprised many veteran trial lawyers, and they'll probably surprise you.

First, race. Are most white persons unconsciously prejudiced against Negroes? Maybe some are when social and housing issues are involved, but not when it comes to a courtroom. The typical white juror rarely assumes a Negro is guilty simply because of his genetic background. As a matter of fact, he may even bend backwards in his effort to be fair.

Negro jurors, on the other hand, do not follow this pattern. They're not prejudiced against whites, but they have a tendency to identify with the under-dog and to show favoritism toward the young, the poor, and the unemployed. They react coldly and suspiciously toward the successful, and established — business executives, for example.

Second, religion. Here again, the usual social antagonisms do not carry into the courtroom. A man may be the type who insists that he wouldn't want his daughter to marry outside her religion, but he doesn't let his thinking spill over into his estimate of a defendant's guilt or innocence. He's not prejudiced because of the man's religion, if it is one of the three major ones. People from many walks of life, however, are prejudiced in the courtroom against members of the newer religious sects.

Third, occupation. Perhaps you think most Americans are especially suspicious of bookies, con men, or B girls. That's what I would have predicted, but a bookie may actually stand a better chance in court, as far as the sympathies of the jury are concerned, than the labor union official. The two occupational groups against whom prejudice is most widespread are labor executives, and government officials.

Fourth, the idle. Are the idle rich and the idle poor likely to meet disfavor in a jury's eyes? Definitely! People with middle incomes, those in the $7,500 through $15,000 bracket, stand the best chance of making a wholesome impression on their peers. And people in this bracket make the fairest jurors.

Fifth, age. The least prejudiced and most open-minded juror is likely to be a man or woman in his or her thirties. Retired people are the most prejudiced and difficult to dissuade.

Sixth, national origins. This category produced some of the biggest surprises of all. Oddly,

Do Late Marriages Last?

Dear Dr. Brothers: I'm 27 and I haven't found a husband. Believe me I'm looking. I know my chances of finding a guy grow less with each passing year, but one thing I don't know is: Will I have less chance of being happy with him if I do, please God, catch one? —B. M. B.

Dear B. M. B.: I have good news for you. Your chances of happiness are far greater once you do march up the aisle than if you took the step when you were a lot younger. Not only is your marriage likely to be more successful but your odds on separation will be low.

If you envy those who married under 20, note that they make up the largest number of any age group slated for divorce now or in the future. At your age, the chances of marital happiness are exactly twice theirs. And if you don't marry until you're past 30, your chance of happiness is exactly three times greater.

New Rule Big Help to Scoring

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The new rule of stopping the clock on all violations led to record-shattering scoring and shooting on the national basketball scene this season.

It all came about mainly because the new rule increased playing time of games by about 5.5 per cent.

A research committee report of the National Association of Basketball Coaches shows that four records of the modern era, since 1948, were established.

Based on averages and percentage for both teams in each game, the new marks include: Percentage of field goals made — .426, the highest in the history of the game; number of field goals scored — 57.3; percentage of field goals and free throws made — .495; and points scored — 148.8.

In every major statistical category, except one, there were increases over the 1962-63 season. The exception was in percentage of free throws made. It was .680 this season compared to a record-matching high of .682 last year.

The trend data compiled by the NCAA Service Bureau was made available by Edward Steitz, athletic director of Springfield Mass. College and chairman of the research committee.

It also showed increases of 7.7 per cent in number of field goals scored per game, 7.1 per cent in points scored, 6.9 per cent in personal fouls, 5 per cent in field goal attempts, 5.2 per cent in free throw attempts, and 5 per cent in free throws made.

The Midwest was the leader in total points scored per game with 160.0. The Far West, which produced the NCAA champion UCLA was lowest with 141.0.

The trend data compiled by the NCAA Service Bureau was made available by Edward Steitz, athletic director of Springfield Mass. College and chairman of the research committee.

State Wins 10-9 Over N'thwestern

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas State bounced back from a 0-9 deficit Monday to beat Northwestern 10-9 in a ten-inning baseball game here.

The Indians crammed eight runs into the seventh inning, added one in the eighth, and picked up the game winning run in the tenth.

Three Northwestern pitchers gave out six walks in the seventh, and the Indians got the eight runs on three hits, including a two-run triple by George Glenn.

Jim Keller knocked in the winning run in the tenth with a single.

Arkansas State has a 3-2 record, and Monday's game was the opener for the Big Ten team from Evanston, Ill.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Pres-

us of Arkansas State College Aug. 16-28, school officials announced today.

Charger officials said the college was chosen because of its central location in the mid-South area, where the team hopes to play exhibition games. One such game is scheduled Aug. 29 at Atlanta. A possible Little Rock game has been mentioned.

Charger stars include former Razorback standout Lance Alworth, voted the most valuable player in the AFL last year; tackle Ernie Ladd, and Earl Faison, and fullback Keith Lincoln.

The coaching staff includes former Arkansas State head football coach Hugh Taylor. Sid Gillman is head coach.

The Chargers will be the second professional team to work out at Arkansas State. The New York Giants prepared there in 1951 for exhibition games at Memphis and Little Rock.

The first settlement in Faulkner County was made at the mouth of Caddo Creek on the Arkansas River in 1811.

U.S. Probe of Boxing Is Begun

By W. B. RAGSDALE

Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., opening an investigation into alleged shady deals in boxing, warned today "time is running out for the boxing industry unless something is done" to end "general public disrespect and distrust."

Hart's comments were in a prepared statement as his Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee opened three days of hearings on circumstances surrounding the controversial technical knockout Feb. 25 by which Cassius Clay won the heavyweight title from Sonny Liston.

"There has been a growing suspicion," Hart said, "that the sport is controlled by hidden manipulators and that the men who go into the ring and take the knocks are the ones who profit least from the gate receipts."

Hart said the first interest of the hearings will be a $50,000 promotional fee paid Clay before the title bout by Intercontinental Promotions Inc., in which Liston is a stockholder, for the exclusive right to promote Clay's next fight and to pick his opponent.

This $50,000 promotional fee has figured in efforts by Ed Lassman, president of the World Boxing Association, to take the heavyweight title away from Clay.

Lassman, scheduled to appear before the subcommittee Thursday, wants to take away the title temporarily and return it in five months if Clay has a satisfactory explanation for the promotional fee from Intercontinental Promotions and his general behavior improves.

The New York and Illinois state athletic commissions have said they will continue to recognize Clay as champion.

Lassman is taking a poll of the WBA's 20-member executive committee to declare the title vacant.

Lassman is expected to endorse strongly the proposal before the Senate subcommittee to set up a federal czar over boxing when he appears Thursday.

Hart is taking over with the hearings where the late Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., left off as subcommittee chairman.

Top Coach Wanted to Be Teacher

AUERBACH—The Will to Win First of a Series

By BOB HOOBING Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Like to be most successful coach in professional basketball history?

Arnold (Red) Auerbach, self-assured owner of the label—would rather be a schoolteacher. Driven by a fierce desire for success, the cigar-smoking whip hand behind Boston's six National Basketball Association championships is many things to many people. He is called a dictator, tactical genius, referee-baiter, frustrated actor.

But a teacher? Never. That's how little is known about the man whose 18 NBA seasons, nearly 1,400 games and over 890 victories are all-time records.

"I love teaching," Red confesses from under the fading, receding fringe of hair. "If the salaries had been somewhere near comparable I never would have left the classroom."

The tough taskmaster was waiving a piece of chalk instead of the tightly-rolled program—now his trademark—when World War II broke out.

"I made $1,900 that year," Auerbach says. Some of the students picked up $2,700 working part-time in the shipyards. When I returned after the war I was offered step-up raises for the time I was away and a bonus. It came to $2,900.

"I just couldn't make a go of it."

So Auerbach turned to the game he played at George Washington University.

It's no accident the two longest winning streaks in the NBA—17 games each at Washington in 1946 and with the Celtics in 1949—were put together under Auerbach's direction.

At 47 he still demands unflinching pride, teamwork, hustle and obedience from his players.

The payoff, in part, has been eight straight Eastern Division

Umpiring Is New Role for Pitcher

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. PETERSBURG (AP) — Danny McDevitt, former pitcher with the Los Angeles Dodgers and New York Yankees, had just walked off the field after umpiring the second game of his new career.

Now McDevitt stood in the shadows of Al Lang Field, his thumb in the air, showing how he gesticulates before a mirror at home to get the feel of authority in his calls.

"I've never been a real aggressive personality," he said. "And when you're umpiring you've got to give an appearance of strength. You have to look like you're convinced you've called the play right so no one has any doubts."

"And you have to develop your voice to make it sound like it has authority," he continued. "You've got to work on developing the muscles in your larynx. I didn't even know I had some of the muscles I'm using."

"So you have to work in front of a mirror," McDevitt explained, "and you get to see for yourself how things look. I've been coming along and I've got a job in the Florida State League."

McDevitt, now 31, originally came up in the Yankee organization, but did most of his pitching for the Dodgers before returning to the Yankees and then winding up his major league career with Minnesota and Kansas City.

In his first major league start in 1957 McDevitt defeated Cincinnati 7-2. He figures his umpiring career actually started then.

"I hurt my arm," he said, "but I was afraid to tell anyone, and it got worse. Last year I had adhesions and tendonitis. For adhesions you're supposed to throw and for tendonitis you're supposed to rest. There didn't seem to be any way out. So I came down here and went to Al Sommers' umpiring school—and it's been a revelation."

"I've played baseball for 12 years," he continued, "and now I know I didn't know half the rules. I'll bet 90 per cent of the players don't really know the rules. Then you have to learn authority and how to position yourself and the rest."

"When I used to pitch, I always felt umpires should have to pay their way into the ball park," he laughed. "Now I know titles. The Celtics recently wrapped up the latest crown with younger Cincinnati pushing hard from behind."

Although champion-maker Bill Russell has been the Most Valuable Player choice of his fellow NBA athletes several times, there are no super-stars with gaudy averages on the Celtics. Only one Boston player, John Havlicek, currently is in the league's top 10 scorers.

"What do I care about statistics and points? You give me the championships and you can have the All Star teams," Auerbach says.

His Other Problems Are Minor

By MURRAY CHASS Associated Press Sports Writer

Bill Skowron has been plagued with problems throughout his baseball career. Now he's with the Washington Senators.

He got there the hard way, starting with the then world champion New York Yankees, stopping off at the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers and finally tumbling to the cellar-dwelling Senators.

Despite the change in atmosphere, the 33-year-old first baseman is willing to accept his fate, at least for the present. He feels if he can get off to a good start this season, he can help not only the Senators but also himself.

His performances of the past two days haven't hurt that thinking any. He slugged a pair of two-run homers Monday in powering Washington to a 7-3 triumph against the Dodgers. That gave him three home runs in two games following his return to the line-up.

Skowron, whose injury record reads like the AMA journal, sat out six days with a bad back, his most persistent ailment.

The appearance of the 6-foot, 197-pound veteran against the Dodgers was the first since he started for them in their World Series sweep of the Yankees last fall. He had five hits, including a home run, for a .385 average and knocked in three runs in the Series.

That showing was almost as surprising as the Dodgers' four-game rout. During the regular season Skowron batted .203, hit four homers and drove in 19 runs, all career lows. He played sporadically, being used as a pinch hitter much of the time.

Whereas injuries had hampered him in previous years, marital difficulties interfered with his playing in 1963. His ordeal was punctuated by a dramatic flight to his New Jersey home in the middle of spring training. Legal action followed.

He'll settle for some good, dramatic batting action this year.

In other baseball developments, mammoth Frank Howard said Monday night he wants to sign a Los Angeles Dodgers' contract and start playing.

"I want to play," said Howard, who previously had talked of retiring. "I'm ready to go down to Vero Beach, Fla." Jim Umbricht's situation is not so good. Houston's right-handed pitcher, it was disclosed, has been hospitalized since March 16. No one would say what is wrong with Umbricht but he underwent a cancer operation a year ago.

He made an amazing comeback, though, compiling a 2.61 earned run average in 76 innings.

In exhibition action, Pittsburgh trounced the New York Yankees 9-2, Houston bombed St. Louis 11-2, San Francisco defeated Boston 7-4, Cincinnati drubbed Kansas City 11-3, the Chicago White Sox knocked off Philadelphia 9-2, the New York Mets nipped Minnesota 7-6, Cleveland edged the Chicago Cubs 6-5 and Milwaukee beat Detroit 4-3.

It's no easy job. But I've got to admit I like umpiring better than I thought I would. I'm still working in the same game."

Montreal Ready for Stanley Cup

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The Montreal Canadiens, pockets bulging with extra cash after their surprising first-place finish in the National Hockey League regular-season race, do not figure to do any big spending in the next few days.

The Flying Frenchmen have hidden away in Ste. Marguerite, a secluded Laurentian village north of Montreal, and are setting their sights on the big adding pay day that goes with a Stanley Cup championship.

Toronto's defending Cup champs, who open a best-of-seven-games semifinal series against the Canadiens at Montreal Thursday, also are out of circulation temporarily, having holed up in Dearborn, Mich., to avoid big city distractions. The Detroit Red Wings play the Black Hawks at Chicago Thursday in the opener of the semifinal series.

Montreal players collected approximately $1,000 apiece for finishing ahead of Chicago in the regular season. Goalie Charlie Hodge picked up an additional $1,000 and the Vezina Trophy for his two-goal margin over the Black Hawks' Glenn Hall in the final defensive statistics.

The Vezina Trophy goes to the goaltender who plays the most games for the team least scored upon. Montreal allowed 167 goals Chicago 169.

The frustrated Black Hawks, who fell a point shy of their first NHL crown for the second straight year, took consolation in several individual bonuses as well as second-place money of $750 per player.

'76ers and Royals Meet Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Philadelphia 76ers get another crack at stopping Oscar Robertson tonight as they meet the Cincinnati Royals in the second of the Eastern Division semifinal playoffs in the National Basketball Association.

The 76ers have to win tonight or the Royals will be in a position to close the best-of-five series on their home court Wednesday night.

When the teams met in the first of the playoff series Sunday night, Robertson showed why he was voted the NBA's most valuable player. He scored 31 points in leading the Royals to a 127-102 victory and a 1-0 lead in the series.

In the Western Division semifinal playoffs, the St. Louis Hawks try to make it three straight against the Los Angeles Lakers Wednesday in Los Angeles.

The Hawks outscored the Lakers 34-23 in the last quarter of their game Sunday night and won 106-90 for a commanding 3-0 lead in their best-of-five set.

For the 76ers, the task will be to hold Robertson down. They tried speed and they tried size Sunday without much success.

Coach Dolph Schayes used guards Paul Neumann, Hal Greer, Al Bianchi and Larry Costello, and forwards Chet Walker and Dave Gambee on him. Robertson also had 16 assists and helped shut off the 76ers offense at a critical stage.
